MISSIONARY SPEAKS IN ROCHESTER

Communists give more of their time and income to spreading "Godless gospel" than the average Christian contributes to his church, a medical missionary from South Africa told the congregation Sunday at Rochester First Congregational Church. John Snavely, a missionary pilot associated with the Evangelical Missionary, was a guest of the Rochester Church all day Sunday.

The missionary held the attention of the Sunday School youngsters with a poignant story about a young South African boy, who after learning about Jesus from Christian nurses, while he lay dying from the disease rabbis from a dog bite, said "I am going to be with Jesus" shortly before he died.

"Most of us are sitting in our homes instead of our churches," he told the adults at the morning service, "because we have it too good in our homes". While the Communists give half their income and one-third of each day to their "Godless gospel", in the United States an average of 2 1/2 cents a week is contributed to churches and missions. Mr. Snavely pointed out that in Pennsylvania alone, 308 million dollars was spent on liquor and 9.06 billion on cigarettes, 25 per cent more than for drugs and medicines. The missionary remarked that "a church that does not have a missionary program is a dead church."

He compared the inadequate facilities and equipment of the mission hospital to the superior hospitals in the United States. He said that a mechanically defective pick up truck is used for an ambulance. Often after receiving word of a patient, by the time the truck was "fixed up" to make the trip, they would reach the patient too late, or the bumpy ride in the back of the pick up didn't help the patient's condition. Mr. Snavely, who pilots a plane to travel to his hospital missions, said that often the piper two seater cub plane is used to transport the injured Zulu people with its cramped quarters doing more harm than good. The missionary and his family, who were sent for five year field service with the Zulu people, returned to the United States a year before completing the period in an effort to raise money to purchase a larger more adequate plane which could be used to transport patients in areas of South Africa not accessible by vehicles.

Town residents met Mr. Snavely at a social hour Sunday night in the church vestry, during which coffee and cake were served from a table set with blue willowware cups and saucers and a floral centerpiece flanked by green tapers. Attendants were the Mmes. Leah Warburton, Shirley Hartley, Anna White, Dorothy Lawrence and Alice Reed. Grace was given by Rev. Arthur Lundberg, pastor of the church. An illustrated talk by the guest missionary followed in the church. A missionary offering was taken.

People affiliated with the mission hospital, diseased and afflicted Zulu patients, the people with their living conditions, customs and geographical phases of South Africa were pictured in the slides and explained by Mr. Snavely. He said that 4 to 8 cases a week admitted to the hospital were due to burns. Althouth the mission doctors are Americans, the nurses are South African Christians, trained to understand and speak three languages, including English "before the hospital gets them". One of the main problems of the hospital was described by the missionary as "desperate for water".

"Cows are the wealth of the African nation," he said, "a sign of high standing in the community." He added that cows were killed only if absolutely necessary and were used to purchase wives. Mr. Snaveley's audience were given a glimpse of his family life in South Africa. The father of five children explained that since his children attended school 140 miles from the mission hospital, they were only able to see them four times a year during vacations. While in the United States the Snavely family reside in Harrisburg, Penn. During his brief weekend visit here, the South Africa missionary was a guest of Rev. and Mrs. Lundberg at the parsonage on New Bedford Road.

TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

The co-chairmen of the 1964 Heart Fund Drive wish to thank the people of Mattapoisett for their generous support of this year's drive. As of this writing the total received has been $740.00.

May we also thank the captains and workers without whose help this drive could not have been so successful. We might add that many of the collectors were teenagers who can be justly proud of their efforts.

We also thank the Florence Eastman Post #280 of the American Legion for allowing us the use of their hall for a collection center.

From this outstanding support we are certain that the people of Mattapoisett are well aware of the many benefits of Heart Fund.

Yours truly,
Mrs. Roland Bessette

GIRL SCOUT ANNIVERSARY

This year marks the fifty-second year of Girl Scouting in the United States. On March 12th, 1912, Juliette Gordon Lowe called together the first troop meeting in Savannah, Georgia. The world, since that time, has changed and so has Girl Scouting; but the Girl Scout promise of today is the same promise that Juliette Lowe made to herself when she first brought Girl Scouting to America.

Among the most notable of changes is one taking place during this year. The total program has been completely revised, with new handbooks, new badges, new levels of achievements and awards, but stressing still duty to God and country, service to others and obedience to the Scout Laws.

Girl Scout Week will be observed March 8-15 throughout the country. During this week, the Mattapoisett Girl Scouts will have exhibits which will represent the goals and achievements of the troops this year. The exhibit in the showcase at the Center School will be prepared by the Brownie Girl Scouts and the Junior Girl Scouts under the supervision of their leaders. Cadette Girl Scouts will have a display at the town library. The public is urged to view these displays to observe the training being given to future citizens.

On Sunday, March 8th, Girl Scouts will worship in their churches. Catholic girls will meet in the church basement at St. Anthony's at 9:15 with Mrs. Denman Morgan and Mrs. Frank Wacaser, Jr. to attend 9:30 A.M. Mass. Protestant girls will meet in the Parish Hall of the Congregational church at 10:30 A.M.

All seven troops in Mattapoisett are sponsored by the Mattapoisett Lions Club. Approximately thirty-five adults comprise the Mattapoisett Neighborhood Association which plans and carries out the program. With the possibility of one or two new troops being formed next year, more adults will be needed to implement this worthwhile endeavor. Training and assistance are offered by the Plymouth Bay Girl Scout Council, a United Fund agency.

SNOW REMOVAL

The Mattapoisett highway crew have continued through this winter of heavy snow their great job of clearing the towns' streets and sidewalks. This is the best New England town to drive and walk in through the winter season. The boys on this crew deserve a pat on the back for their excellent job in every storm.

FORMER MATTAPOISETT RESIDENT WEDS

The wedding of Miss Pamella Stella Zarnowski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Zarnowski of Hooksett, New Hampshire, and Douglas C. Weeks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roland C. Weeks of Bonnie View Road, Southwick, took place recently at Holy Trinity National Polish Cathedral, Manchester, New Hampshire.

Mr. and Mrs. Roland Weeks and son Douglas are former residents of Mattapoisett when Mr. Weeks was principal of the Mattapoisett Center School.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rt. Rev. Joseph Soltysick, pastor of the cathedral. Mrs. Lillian Korona was organist and Mrs. Helen Kokoszka, soloist. White gladioli decorated the altar. A reception followed at the home of the bride.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of white peau taffeta, portrait neckline and long sleeves ending with points at the wrist. The bodice was trimmed with Alencon lace and a matching motif was on the bell shaped skirt with self bow in back. She wore a bouffant triple silk illusion veil fashioned to a pearl crown and carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and stephanotis, centered with a white rose corsage.

For traveling the bride chose a navy blue suit, black coat with mink collar and beige accessories.

The bride is a sophomore at the University of New Hampshire, majoring in applied piano. Mr. Weeks, a senior at the University of New Hampshire, is presently practice teaching in the Portsmouth, New Hampshire schools.

Attendants at the wedding were Miss Diane Zarnowski, sister of the bride, and Gerald Mark of Concord, New Hampshire. Ushers were Rudolph Dlugosz of Manchester and Glenn Grant of Scarborough, Maine.
